The TriFit™ Walker is a valuable piece of equipment for assisting balance and stability, particularly with gait training. Those who already have one at their pool give rave reviews. Those who do not have one are hoping to add it to their equipment offerings very soon. The added feature is that the bars are detachable and can be used independently for aquatic fitness or swim instruction.

DELTA BELLS are available in maximum, medium, and light intensity. All sizes are constructed of fast drying EVA foam with padded grip; the triangle shape adjusts resistance at the turn of the wrist AND allows for storage ease. The three sizes give everyone in group classes the bell best suited for their fitness level and accommodates therapy applications from the strongest athlete to medium intensity needs, in addition to the severely deconditioned and/or peds, making progression treatment plans easy to implement. You'll love them for a long time – the closed cell foam avoids the usual signs of wear and tear – no molding, no peeling, no pilling, no replacing.
