The Difference Between Specialty Certificate Programs and ATRI Certification

Specialty Certificate Programs are 3-day, 15-hour programs for which you receive a certificate of completion at the end of the course. The certificate will be in an area of emphasis such as Lumbar Stabilization, Pediatrics, etc. The certificate is bestowed because of the educational hours you put into the course.

The ATRI Certification is a 3-hour comprehensive exam that will test your ability to meet the Aquatic Therapy and Rehabilitation Industry Standards to practice. The exam is OPTIONAL and IS NOT part of the Specialty Certificate Program. You may take the exam at any of our educational conferences or online anytime. Go to www.atri.org for complete details.

Continuing Education Credits

Numerous therapy and aquatics-related organizations accept ATRI courses and award credit as appropriate. Specific information will be available at the conference. All attendees will receive a CEC Record Sheet as proof of attendance. You may use the proof of attendance and the course descriptions and biographies from the ATRI website to obtain credit. The following organizations routinely approve ATRI events for continuing education credit:

- American Kinesiotherapy Association (AKTA)
- American Therapeutic Recreation Association (ATRA)
- Aquatic Exercise Association, Inc. (AEA)
- National Athletic Trainers Association (BOC-NATA)
- Physical therapy and occupational therapy associations approve ATRI events on a state-by-state basis.

Please contact your state PT or OT organization for more information. ATRI courses have always been approved for continuing education by these organizations.

Volunteers Always needed

ATRI is always looking for fired-up volunteers, ready to work with us on-site at our Conferences. You'll receive a discounted registration fee as our thanks! Call or e-mail us if interested. Information is available now at www.atri.org.

ATRI Certification

The ATRI Aquatic Therapeutic Exercise Certification Exam is for competent, knowledgeable professionals in aquatic therapy, rehab and therapeutic exercise.

The Certification makes you a better and more well-rounded aquatic therapy practitioner. It helps you learn to take better care of your clients. The Certification is very popular because most practitioners want to improve themselves, expand their client base, and have the affirmation of a credential. It's why many practitioners are certified by several organizations. It is also helpful for getting jobs, raises, and pool time. It all depends on the title you want, the patients/clients with whom you're working, your goals, and the medium within which you work. If you want to grow and expand, the Certification is for you.

The Certification will allow you to use the term "ATRI Certified" or the initials "ATRIC" after your name. The certification will not make you a therapist if you aren't already one.

The exam is given on Sunday at all National Aquatic Specialty Certificate Conferences or you may choose to take the exam online anytime.
