Who Should Attend?
Whatever your profession, aquatics is the common bond...from speakers to attendees, you’ll encounter a wide variety of healthcare professionals with disciplines to enhance your learning experience...PTs, PTAs, OTs, OTAs, TRs, ATs, KTs, MDs, DOs, PhDs, ExPhys, RNs, LMTs, Physical Educators, Assistants, Aides, Aquatic Fitness Professionals. Learn how your practice fits in the multidisciplinary scheme of services.

New to Aquatic Therapy?
We recommend Intro. to Aquatic Therapy and Rehab (Course #1200), offered on the first day of most conferences. From there, you should choose beginner (1000-level) or intermediate (2000-level) courses that most suit your patient/client base.

Course Levels
When selecting courses, please refer to the course numbers on your city’s Course Selection Sheet:
1000 = Entry Level / 2000 = Intermediate / 3000 = Advanced

Looking for a Comprehensive Mix of General Aquatic Therapy Education?
We’ve got it for you! If you have a broad base of clients or are new to aquatic therapy and rehab, we offer a comprehensive mix of general education courses. Check out the schedules and go to www.atri.org for complete course descriptions and objectives.

ATRI Certification
The ATRI Aquatic Therapeutic Exercise Certification Exam is for competent, knowledgeable professionals in aquatic therapy, rehab and therapeutic exercise.

The ATRI Certification is a 3-hour comprehensive exam that will test your ability to meet the Aquatic Therapy and Rehabilitation Industry Standards to practice. The exam is OPTIONAL, but you must have 15 hours of education in aquatic therapy and rehab before taking the exam.

Being ATRI Certified proves you are a knowledgeable and more well-rounded aquatic therapy practitioner. The education you gain by completing the prerequisite 15 hours of course work in aquatic therapy helps you take better care of your clients. The Certification is very popular because most practitioners want to advance themselves, expand their client base, and have the affirmation of this credential. It’s why many practitioners are certified by several organizations. It is also helpful for getting jobs, raises, and pool time. It all depends on the title you want, the patients/clients with whom you’re working, and your goals. If you want to grow and expand, the Certification is for you.

The Certification will allow you to use the term “ATRI Certified” or the initials “ATRIC” after your name. The certification will not make you a therapist if you aren’t already a licensed therapist.

The exam is optional and is given on the final day of all National Aquatic Therapy Conferences and at the International Aquatic Therapy Symposium, or you may choose to take the exam online anytime. For complete details, go to www.atri.org and click on Certification Information.

Continuing Education Credits
Numerous therapy and aquatics-related organizations accept ATRI courses and award credit as appropriate. Specific information will be available at the conferences. All attendees will receive a Continuing Education Credit/Unit Record Sheet as proof of attendance. You may use the proof of attendance and the course descriptions and biographies from the ATRI website (atri.org) to obtain credit. ATRI always provides attendees with any additional information they need to obtain credit. The following organizations routinely approve ATRI educational events for continuing education hours:
• American Kinesiotherapy Association (AKTA)
• American Therapeutic Recreation Association (ATRA)
• Aquatic Exercise Association, Inc. (AEA)
• Florida Board of Massage Therapy
• Florida Board of Occupational Therapy
• Florida Physical Therapy Association (for courses in Florida)
• Physical Therapy Board of California
• Illinois Department of Financial and Professional Regulation
• Texas Board of Physical Therapy Examiners (for courses in Texas)

Many state Physical Therapy and Occupational Therapy organizations require pre-approval of conference courses. If you are in need of PT or OT CEU approval, please check with your state PT or OT organization to determine their requirements. Every state is different and ATRI does not automatically obtain PT or OT continuing education pre-approval for all states because the cost is prohibitive. Each therapist must follow the guidelines given by his/her state PT or OT organization for approval. Please email Angie Fischer with any questions – afischer@atri.org.
